

Paula J. Allan

Paula J. Allan is Senior Counsel with FedEx Ground in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where she practices in the Government and Commercial Litigation group. In her government litigation role, she has extensive experience litigating against federal and state agencies and works closely with other attorneys from relevant practice groups and FedEx's government affairs team to ensure that her client is able to successfully navigate today's complex regulatory environment. In her commercial litigation role, she primarily defends FedEx Ground in breach of contract matters and against challenges to its independent contractor business model.

She earned her J.D. in 2002 from Villanova University School of Law and her B.A. in 1999 from Grove City College.