ON-DEMAND RELEASE

Before You Run Off: A Primer on Insurance Risk Transfer Arrangements

Committee Sponsor: Insurance and Reinsurance

The run off market has been booming. As existing insurers look to streamline their legacy business and free up capital for current lines and future investment, buyers have been taking a keen interest in these portfolios. This session will take you through the legal possibilities and limitations under US, UK, and EU law, explaining the potential pitfalls and opportunities. From preparing the portfolio all the way through claims management, our panelists will take you on a tour of how these arrangements work around the globe. In addition to the presenters listed, we will also have representation from the UK to address that perspective.

Speakers: Eva-Maria Barbosa, Clyde & Co., Munich, Germany; John T. Harding, Sulloway & Hollis, P.L.L.C., Providence, Rhode Island USA; Philip Herson, London, England United Kingdom; Vikram Sidhu, Mayer Brown, New York, New York USA

ON-DEMAND RELEASE

Cyber Breach, Online Harm, Privacy, and the Difficulties of Inventing New Torts

Committee Sponsor: Cyber Security, Data Privacy and Technology

Following the phone hacking scandal, the English Courts dealt with the unruly British media by awarding large damages for the misuse of private information. This differed from previous cases in which damages for such breaches had been relatively modest. Because the tort is new, there is a great deal of uncertainty about "harm" and the appropriate measure of compensation. This has a connection to the loss of personal data arising from cyber breaches and how to measure the harm caused to those affected by the breach. Tortious principles, such as vicarious liability for a breach by an employee, were considered by the UK Supreme Court in the case involving WM Morrisons Supermarkets plc. We are currently awaiting a decision about the measure of damages for loss of control of data under section 13 of the Data Protection Act in the UK Supreme Court case Lloyd v. Google LLC. Law makers around the world are trying to regulate against online harms. They face a central difficulty to strike a balance between freedom of expression, privacy, and the removal of harmful content. However, a further problem is simply to define "harm" and how this might give rise to further evolutions in tort.

Speakers: Brent Arnold, Gowling WLG (Canada) LLP, Toronto, Ontario Canada; Anna Cook, Bristows LLP, London, England United Kingdom; Robert Graham, Bristows LLP, London, England United Kingdom

ON-DEMAND RELEASE

When The World Stopped: The George Floyd Trial

Committee Co-Sponsors: Social Justice Pro Bono, Trial Techniques and Tactics

The world was watching Minneapolis, MN when the jury heard evidence in one of the most prolific trials of our generation. In this special presentation, we will interview Jerry Blackwell and Steven Schleicher, appointed special prosecutors who would help win a conviction in the murder of George Floyd. They speak with Minnesota Attorney General, Keith Ellison, about the trial strategy and preparation for dealing with polarizing issues that would consume the world until Derek Chauvin was sentenced to 22 years in prison.

Speakers: Jerry Blackwell, Blackwell Burke P.A., Minneapolis, Minnesota USA; Keith Ellison, Minnesota Attorney General, Saint Paul, Minnesota USA; Steven L. Schleicher, Maslon LLP, Minneapolis, Minnesota USA; Zandra E. Foley, Thompson, Coe, Cousins & Iron, LLP, Houston, Texas USA

Emerging Contaminants and Talc Litigation: What Are the Next Mass Toxic Torts?

Committee Sponsor: Toxic and Hazardous Substances Litigation

The most recent wave of mass tort litigation in the United States has focused on opioids, talc, PFOA, glyphosate, and other groundwater contaminants. This seminar will look at which chemicals and substances are being evaluated by U.S. and international regulators and agencies (e.g., FDA, EPA, IARC) and are therefore likely to soon be the focus of the plaintiffs' bar.

How About Doing Away with Witness Testimony in International Arbitration?

Committee Co-Sponsors: Alternative Dispute Resolution, Business Litigation, Corporate Counsel, International, International Arbitration

The program will explore how reliable and effective witness evidence generally proves in international arbitration. Together with a panel of specialists including a cognitive psychologist, arbitrators, counsel, and users, participants will address inter alia the following issues: pros and cons of witness evidence in a multicultural context; is it worth it given the costs at stake, and if so when and why? Are witnesses who have been "prepared" for their testimony still providing actual evidence or does their coaching change the nature of their role in the process? Is the perception the same for civil law trained arbitrators and Anglo-Saxon law trained arbitrators? If so, why?

Open Forum: Nina Willner

The IADC is thrilled to have Nina Willner as our Open Forum Keynote Speaker at the 2022 Annual Meeting. Ms. Willner is a former US Army Intelligence Officer and was the first woman to lead Army intelligence collection missions behind the Iron Curtain in Soviet-held East Berlin during the Cold War. Following a career in intelligence that saw her working alongside some of the US's most sensitive intelligence organizations, Nina spent two decades living and working in Russia, Belarus, and Czech Republic in a variety of positions for the US government NGOs and charities in the fields of human rights and rule of law, and for non-profits. The common thread in all her work has been the fundamental desire to promote freedom, democracy, and universal human rights. Additionally, Ms. Willner authored our Book Review selection Forty Autumns and will be present during the Book Review discussion. For more information on the Book Review, click here.

Forty Autumns: A Family's Story of Courage and Survival on Both Sides of the Berlin Wall by Nina Willner

In Forty Autumns, Nina Willner recounts her family's story -- five ordinary lives buffeted by circumstances beyond their control. She takes us deep into the tumultuous and terrifying world of East Germany under Communist rule, revealing both the cruel reality her relatives endured and her own experiences as the first female Army Intelligence Officer to run secret operations in East Berlin at the height of the Cold War.

Ms. Willner is our Open Forum Speaker and will also be present during this Book Review discussion. *The Book Review is complimentary and open to all registered members and their guests. Berlin Highlights and Boat Cruise ($)

A professional guide will share compelling anecdotes and historical details about Berlin's most important sites and landmarks as you wind your way through the city by bus. Highlights include the Charlottenburg Palace, City West (the former city center of West Berlin), Tiergarten Park, Potsdamer Platz, the Brandenburg Gate, the Reichstag, Unter Den Linden Avenue, the famous Gendarmenmarkt city square, and more. Then, to show the city from another perspective, board a one-hour cruise on the Spree River and take in some of the city's best views. This tour is a great way to familiarize yourself with the city at the start of the week. The registration fee is $85.00 USD per person and includes roundtrip transportation, an English-speaking tour guide, a one-hour boat cruise, and bottled waters. To register for this tour, click the "Tour/Activity Registration and Information" button on the homepage to be directed to the registration website.

2 – 5 p.m.

Digital Bus Journey ($)

This tour combines Berlin's past and present along with technology and humanity to create a truly unique and one-of-a-kind experience. To illustrate the enormity of changes Berlin has undergone in the last 100 years, video screens on the bus will show the metamorphosis of buildings, landmarks, and streets while the professional guide shares riveting stories and historical details that will take you on a journey back in time. The difference between what you're seeing on the video screen and what's outside the bus window is so drastic at times you may find it hard to believe! The registration fee is $55.00 USD per person and includes roundtrip transportation, an English-speaking tour guide, and bottled waters. To register for this tour, click the "Tour/Activity Registration and Information" button on the homepage to be directed to the registration website.

2 – 5 p.m.

East Meets West Tour ($)

Today, seeing a united Berlin can make it hard to believe it was so tragically divided (along with the rest of Germany) following World War II. Historically speaking though, it wasn't that long ago when families were divided by the Berlin Wall and the threat of a third World War loomed over us all. The professional guides on this bus tour will share fascinating, historical details and stories about the division of Berlin, the rise and fall of the Wall, lifestyles during the Cold War, and the relationship between East and West Germany. Stops will be made at Checkpoint Charlie and Bernauer Straße – a street that, overnight, was divided down the middle when the Berlin Wall was erected. The registration fee is $55.00 USD per person and includes roundtrip transportation, an English-speaking tour guide, and bottled waters. To register for this tour, click the "Tour/Activity Registration and Information" button on the homepage to be directed to the registration website.

Challenges and Strategies for Brand Enforcement in E-Commerce and Beyond

Committee Co-Sponsors: Business Litigation, Intellectual Property, International

Companies around the globe are facing an onslaught of their products being sold by third parties on e-commerce sites, many of which are outdated, damaged, missing parts, or altered in other ways. They are often being sold at prices lower than authorized dealers can sell the products, which is causing damage to the brand and to the relationships between manufacturers and their authorized sellers. In some cases, they are causing harm to users, leading to product liability actions against the original manufacturers. This session will explore the problem, how companies can address the problem through management of their global supply chain and distribution channels, what companies can do to protect their brand and reduce exposure to suits and claims through enforcement, and the current state of the law in this area.

Global Discovery: Managing Proportionality, Privacy, Data Protection, and Other Challenges in Cross-Border Litigation

Committee Co-Sponsors: Class Actions and Multi-Party Litigation, Drug, Device and Biotechnology, International, Product Liability

Cross-border discovery and the conflicts created between U.S. discovery obligations and non-U.S. data protection, blocking statutes, and privacy protections pose unique challenges for parties, practitioners, in-house counsel, and courts attempting to determine the appropriate scope of data preservation and discovery. The challenges and burdens are even more difficult to manage in the midst of a global pandemic, and are impacted by stringent data protection laws, balancing of privacy interests, data volumes and accessibility, and different communication and collaboration technologies. This panel will discuss those challenges, the standard for proportionality and accessibility, and sanctions that might result from a failure to preserve or produce data and documents, as well as creative solutions to accessibility.

In the Arena: Cutting Edge Issues in International Sports Law

Committee Sponsor: Intellectual Property

Simulating a track and field relay, our international experts will cover four of the hottest topics in sports law facing athletes around the world. First, we'll grab the baton from our February 2022 Midyear Meeting in Scottsdale, which explored student athletes' historic challenges to rules and laws banning compensation and exploitation of their name, image and likeness. While that panel left off with the U.S. Supreme Court's June 2021 landmark decision in Alston v. NCAA, our first topic will explore how the landscape has undergone a seismic change in the year following Alston. Next, we'll grab the baton and focus on athletes' freedom of speech around the world: what rights and limits do athletes have in different countries to protest and comment on issues of the day? Next, we'll examine hurdles that women seeking to play professional soccer/football have surmounted and still face in various nations. Finally, we'll sprint across the finish line by exploring one of the most controversial issues in European sports (which is structured very differently than in the United States): should European football "supersize," similar to the NFL or NBA in the U.S.?

Full Stop on Microaggressions: An Interactive Program on How to Understand and Minimize the Role You May Play in Furthering Unintended, Subtle, or Indirect Discrimination

Committee Sponsor: Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

How as legal professionals do we recognize when our own actions or words make co-workers, clients, jurors, judges, or colleagues uncomfortable? How do we initiate productive conversations to confront subtle or indirect bias when we experience it ourselves or when we otherwise see it take place? This session will present vignettes to help identify different ways bias can manifest itself. Panelists will then discuss the framework for navigating these situations and offer practical steps for discussing and combating bias in the most productive way possible.

Speakers: J. Dominic Campodonico, Gordon & Rees LLP, San Francisco, California USA; Kori Carew, Seyfarth Shaw LLP, Chicago, Illinois USA; Andrew S. Chamberlin, Ellis & Winters LLP, Greensboro, North Carolina USA; Cecilia Lahaye, Bird & Bird LLP, Brussels, Belgium

From The Flintstones to The Jetsons: Rewards and Risks of New Technology Vehicles

Committee Co-Sponsors: Insurance and Reinsurance, Intellectual Property, International, Product Liability

Global mobility industries are experiencing sea changes as new technologies drive the development of alternative fuel vehicles (EV and hydrogen) and autonomous vehicles. Traditional product manufacturers are partnering with software development companies and other start-ups to develop new alternative fuel, "smart" and autonomous vehicles. This new age encompasses potential novel product liability claims, antitrust implications, trade secret and IP protections, global privacy laws, and evolution of the insurance industry to include developing technologies. Collectively these developments create a myriad of legal challenges that will need to be addressed by traditional and new mobility vehicle manufacturers, component suppliers, and their attorneys. This roundtable discussion with in-house counsel, insurance professionals, and experienced outside counsel will dive into these new vehicle technologies that are being developed around the globe, the risks associated with their development, strategies for managing those risks, and the rewards of being prepared for this new age transportation.

Speakers: Kurt Gerstner, Dentons Lee, Seoul, Korea; Nicole M. Brunson, Arrival, Charlotte, North Carolina USA; Melissa Darby, Cummins, London, England United Kingdom; Jodi Oley, State Farm Insurance, Bloomington, Illinois USA

Digital Forensics for Lawyers: Uncovering Hidden Evidence to Win Your Cases

SPONSORED BY BIT-X-BIT

Committee Co-Sponsors: Corporate Counsel, Cyber Security, Data Privacy and Technology

The panel will discuss various aspects of digital forensics, with real-world examples. Examples will include evidence that can be found on the dark web, cyber-sleuthing, and building witness profiles. The panel will review collection and authentication standards under rules of evidence, the ethics of technical competence, and pitfalls and limitations of forensic collection, including recovering deleted evidence. The discussion also will explore the ethical and privacy issues involved with locating and pulling data from both the surface web and dark web.

Speakers: David L. Patron, Phelps Dunbar LLP, New Orleans, Louisiana USA; Alex Ponce de Leon, Google LLC, San Francisco, California USA; John Unice, Bit-x-bit, LLC, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania USA; Kristina Von Der Linden, Bayer, Leverkusen, Germany

The Empowerment Collaborative Outing: East Side Gallery and Market Hall Lunch ($)

Join other members of IADC's The Empowerment Collaborative* for a guided tour of the East Side Gallery, the longest continuous section of the Berlin Wall still in existence. After the wall came down, more than 100 artists from around the world began painting this section of the wall and it was given protected memorial status in 1991. From there you'll walk to one of Berlin's few remaining market halls, Markethalle Neun, for lunch. Markthalle Neun has become the symbolic nerve center of Berlin's food revolution: a champion of organic (locally known as bio) products and a pioneer of the city's international street food movement. *The Empowerment Collaborative is a Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee initiative supporting the continued professional advancement of IADC's women members. TEC welcomes all (women and men) IADC members who care. Please Note: Due to limited space, this outing is offered only for those participating in The Empowerment Collaborative activities and their guests. This activity is also being offered on Wednesday, July 13 and is open to all members. The registration fee is $55.00 USD per person and includes roundtrip transportation, an English-speaking tour guide, lunch, and bottled waters. To register for this tour, click the "Tour/Activity Registration and Information" button on the homepage to be directed to the registration website.

1:30 – 5:30 p.m.

Museum Island Highlights ($)

Museum Island, located in the Spree River and made up of five extraordinary buildings from the time of Prussian rulers, was awarded UNESCO World Heritage status in 1999. On this tour you will visit two of the island's most famous – the Pergamon Museum, Berlin's most visited museum, and the Neues Museum which houses the world-famous bust of Nefertiti which is more than 3,000 years old. The registration fee is $55.00 USD per person and includes roundtrip transportation, admittance to two museums, an English-speaking tour guide, and bottled waters. To register for

2 – 5 p.m.

East Meets West Tour ($)

Today, seeing a united Berlin can make it hard to believe it was so tragically divided (along with the rest of Germany) following World War II. Historically speaking though, it wasn't that long ago when families were divided by the Berlin Wall and the threat of a third World War loomed over us all. The professional guides on this bus tour will share fascinating, historical details and stories about the division of Berlin, the rise and fall of the Wall, lifestyles during the Cold War, and the relationship between East and West Germany. Stops will be made at Checkpoint Charlie and Bernauer Straße – a street that, overnight, was divided down the middle when the Berlin Wall was erected. The registration fee is $55.00 USD per person and includes roundtrip transportation, an English-speaking tour guide, and bottled waters. To register for this tour, click the "Tour/Activity Registration and Information" button on the homepage to be directed to the registration website.

2 – 5 p.m.

Reichstag Dome and Walking Tour ($)

A professional guide will walk participants from The Ritz-Carlton to the Reichstag, pointing out historical sites, sharing interesting stories, and answering questions anyone may have about the city and its history. Upon your arrival at the Reichstag, you will be taken up to the now famous Reichstag Dome. This glass dome, designed by architect Norman Foster, is constructed on top of the rebuilt Reichstag building and symbolizes the reunification of Germany. The distinctive appearance of the dome, melding Berlin's past, present, and future, has become a prominent landmark in Berlin. The registration fee is $35.00 USD per person and includes a roundtrip guided walking tour with an English-speaking tour guide, admittance to the Reichstag Dome, and bottled waters. To register for this tour, click the "Tour/Activity Registration and Information" button on the homepage to be directed to the registration website.

A Step Ahead of the Risk: Managing Compliance Globally

Committee Co-Sponsors: Corporate Compliance and Government Enforcement Actions, Cyber Security, Data Privacy and Technology, International

In today's global economy, interconnected markets and transactions require corporate compliance programs be comprehensive and equally effective on the local, national, and international levels. Recent shifts in workplace habits occasioned by the global pandemic have made compliance even more challenging. Thankfully today's compliance professionals have the benefit of technology and their own data to leverage in developing state-of-the-art and bespoke global compliance programs. Our panelists from the European Union and the United States have global experience and will share their insight into today's compliance challenges and techniques on how to meet them. The panelists will address the following hot topics during their presentation: (a) Digitalizing Compliance Services: Opportunities and Pitfalls; (b) Managing Workload in a Rapidly Changing and Ever More Digital World; and (c) Data Analytics in Compliance Management.

Speakers: Regina G. Cavaliere, Henry Schein Inc., New York, New York USA; Tripp Haston, Bradley LLP, Birmingham, Alabama USA; Martin Petrasch, Siemens AG, Erlangen, Germany; Kristina Von Der Linden, Bayer, Leverkusen, Germany
