President's Message

Have You Engaged with the IADC this Year?

We are well into 2022, and the IADC is moving full steam ahead. My last Docket President's Message challenged members to make IADC engagement a New Year's resolution.

Have you?

The IADC's wildly important goal (WIG) is to increase member satisfaction with business referrals. We believe that members increase their satisfaction with business referrals by engaging in IADC activities and forming relationships with other members. The equation is simple:

Engagement --> Relationships --> Referrals

It all starts with engagement, so here are some ways that you can engage.

Attend one or more of our upcoming Major Meetings. Program information and registration is available on the Calendar of Events.

We have a great lineup of other offerings in the coming months: in-person Regional Meetings, Active Ally series discussions, and complimentary Webinars. Attend one or more of these.

Get involved in Committees. Reach out to a Committee Chair to join monthly calls, author an article for the Newsletter or the Defense Counsel Journal, record a podcast, or assist with CLE.

An if you have an opportunity to refer business, Think IADC First! The IADC Membership Directory will help you find the IADC colleague best suited to handle the matter.

The bottom line is this: you get out of the IADC exactly what you put into it.

I hope you will go all in!

IADC President

THE "CROWN JEWEL" RETURNS - 48th ANNUAL TRIAL ACADEMY

Enrollment for the 2022 Trial Academy is now open!

After a two-year hiatus, the IADC Trial Academy will return to in-person training July 30 to August 5 at Stanford University in Palo Alto, California. As the “Crown Jewel” of the IADC, the Trial Academy is one of the oldest and most respected programs for developing defense trial advocacy skills. Perfect for those looking to learn and practice the fundamentals and for those seeking to refine their techniques and tactics and take their trial skills to the next level, students will learn by doing.

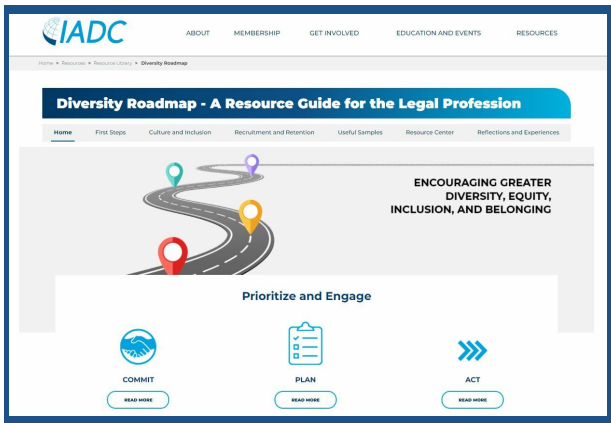

This seven-day, intensive workshop blends faculty instruction and demonstration with individual student participation in the setting of a mock trial. Sending lawyers to the Trial Academy is as important as ever given the disruption to professional development caused by the pandemic and the re-emergence of trials as courts try to whittle away at their dockets. The Trial Academy program is sure to help your team be ready.

The Academy's faculty will be under the leadership of Director Michael A. Brown and Director-Elect Edward S. Sledge, IV.

The brochure is online, and there is a pricing format which includes a discount for early registration as well as discounts for attendees from corporations and government entities and registration of multiple students from the same firm. Please take advantage of these opportunities, as the discounts expire on April 1.

For Academy details and registration, check out the Trial Academy page on the IADC website.

Diversity Roadmap Resource Website

The IADC announced in February the launch of the Diversity Roadmap, a resource guide for law firms and corporations which encourages greater diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging.

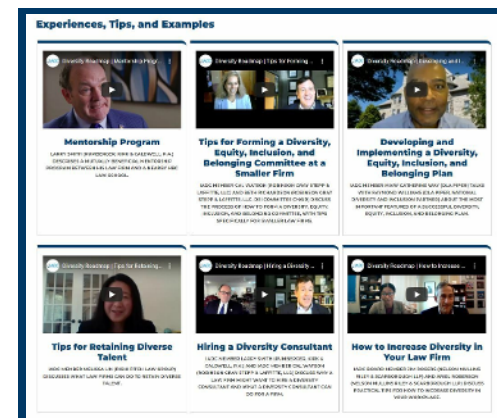

Your firm or company may have a whole team dedicated to DEI efforts, or it may just be starting on its DEI journey. This interactive website is meant to assist you no matter where you are in that process.

The Diversity Roadmap is publicly accessible and found under the Resources section of the IADC website. The content covers critical areas such as recruitment, retention, creating an inclusive culture, and key first steps.

You'll find more than 125 practical resources, which include how-to videos created by some of our very own members, real life experiences, and best practices used by law firms and corporations of all sizes and types.

We encourage you to explore and share this valuable content. If you or your firm have a helpful resource or a success story you'd like to contribute, please reach out to Ashley Hatfield, Director of Communications.

We offer a big thank you to every member of the Diversity Roadmap Task Force who thoughtfully collected, vetted, and created resources to help others on their DEI journey.

Committee Update: White Collar Defense and Investigation Committee Becomes Corporate Compliance and Government Enforcement Actions Committee

In February, the Board of Directors approved that the White Collar Defense and Investigation Committee would be renamed to Corporate Compliance and Government Enforcement Actions Committee to better convey what topics the Committee covers.

After discussion in some of its monthly meetings, the Committee requested the IADC Board change its name to reflect that government enforcement actions are a broader category than just white collar matters and that advising on corporate compliance policies and practices is an important component of what Committee members do. White collar matters won't be disregarded, as the Committee intends to still focus on this practice area.

If you would enjoy being involved with this Committee, please email Diana Leon, Communications and Professional Development Coordinator, at dleon@iadclaw.org to join.
