

THANK YOU TO OUR SPONSORS

We could not provide as many member benefits without their support! When you are looking for a service partner, please contact our sponsors and let them know that you know them through the IADC!

Our Core Connection Sponsors have invested in IADC meetings throughout the year. Thank you to them for their significant commitment.

CORE CONNECTION LEVEL TWO

The Exponent name is recognized for its integrity, objectivity, independence, and professionalism. Our corporate core values drive a commitment to client service that enables us to provide consistently high quality work to clients worldwide. For more than 50 years we have provided engineering, scientific, environmental, and health consulting services to corporations, insurance carriers, government agencies, law firms, and individuals. The firm has been best known for analyzing accidents and failures to determine their causes, but in recent years it has become more active in assisting clients with human health, environmental, engineering, and regulatory issues associated with new products or processes to help prevent problems in the future.
