

SUMMER RESOURCES @STANFORD

WELCOME TO THE FARM!

“The Farm” is a campus nickname that originated from the days when horses rather than students roamed what was once the farm of university founders Leland and Jane Stanford. Today, the beautiful campus is home to a vibrant community supported by world-class academic resources, comfortable campus housing and award-winning dining.

This guide highlights the many campus resources and activities available to you during your stay. For additional information, please refer to your Conference Front Desk (CFD) welcome flyer and map, or contact your CFD staff. It’s a pleasure having you as our valued guest this summer on The Farm.

Please contact service offices directly for holiday schedules, including Independence Day and Labor Day hours or closures. The university will observe Independence Day on Monday, July 4, 2022 and Labor Day on September 5, 2022. Many campus offices and services will be closed.

CAMPUS SECURITY

- Lock your doors and windows, and keep valuables secured or out of sight when not in your room.
- Avoid walking or jogging alone at night, stay on well-lit paths, and remain alert to your surroundings.
- Report suspicious persons, activities, or crimes in progress immediately to your Conference Front Desk staff and/or to the Stanford University Department of Public Safety.
- For emergencies, call the Stanford Police by dialing 911 from your cell phone (9-911 from any campus phone) or activate the nearest blue emergency tower.
