

Hertz used the crosswalk that is seen in the background of this picture and was hit when walking from the center median toward the Target store.