

Andrew B. Cooke
Flaherty, Sensabaugh & Bonasso PLLC
Charleston, West Virginia

Andy Cooke is a business trial lawyer who has been trying cases for the past 25 years. He represents small businesses, individuals, regional, national and global corporations. His practice is focused on commercial, transportation, product, mass tort, class action and complex litigation matters. Nationally, Andy is a member of the International Association of Defense Counsel, the Federation of Defense and Corporate Counsel, as well as other local and state bar organizations. He is active as a writer, speaker and advocate working to improve the civil justice system.