

Angela Zimmern
McGuireWoods LLP
Charlotte, North Carolina

Angela Zimmern is senior counsel and director of pro bono at McGuireWoods, an international law firm with 1,100 lawyers in 22 offices worldwide. She works with leaders in each McGuireWoods office to expand local pro bono programs and build on the firm's pro bono partnerships with corporate law departments. Angie transitioned to this role in April 2019 after successfully implementing and leading the firm's legal project management program for five years. Prior to that, Angie practiced law in the firm's Business and Securities Litigation group.

Angie has been deeply involved in numerous successful initiatives as co-coordinator of pro bono efforts for McGuireWoods' Charlotte office. She received the 2018 Distinguished Pro Bono Service Award, a lifetime achievement honor presented by the Charlotte Center for Legal Advocacy, the Council for Children's Rights and Legal Aid of North Carolina. Angie worked closely with clients Bank of America, Duke Energy and Wells Fargo to launch Charlotte Triage, an innovative program to expand pro bono services for low-income residents while easing burdens on legal aid organizations. She has extensive experience presenting and educating others on pro bono service, including most recently speaking about the Charlotte Triage program at the 2019 Pro Bono Institute Annual Conference in Washington, D.C.