

Kurt B. Gerstner

Kurt Gerstner is an attorney at Lee International IP & Law Group. Before joining Lee International, Kurt was a shareholder and trial lawyer at Campbell Campbell Edwards & Conroy in Boston, Massachusetts.

Kurt has extensive civil litigation experience. For the past 34 years, Kurt has been representing his clients' interests in a wide variety of disputes involving many different industries and businesses, including class action litigation and international arbitrations. His commercial litigation experience includes contract actions, shareholder disputes, intellectual property litigation, false advertising, property disputes, employment matters, lender liability actions, construction disputes and debt collection actions.

Kurt has served as national counsel and regional counsel for a variety of clients, overseeing negligence and products liability claims involving automobiles, heavy equipment, recreational devices, aviation products and firearms. He supervised his prior firm's asbestos product liability/ toxic tort practice where he managed more than 1,000 cases in the Northeast United States. Kurt's other product liability experience includes drug and medical devices, consumer products, chemicals, clothing, sporting goods, appliances and industrial equipment. Kurt also represents clients in aviation matters that include commercial litigation, property damage and personal injury claims. He has represented commercial airlines, airframe manufacturers, aviation engine manufacturers, component parts suppliers and aviation repair facilities.