Marsha M. Piccone is a trial and appellate lawyer and former Colorado Court of Appeals Judge. She has years of experience as national counsel, regional counsel, and local counsel in litigation involving business disputes, product liability, insurance, personal injury, and torts. Businesses of all sizes, rely on Marsha's multifaceted experience to guide them through the most complex legal problems through litigation, arbitration, and appeal.

As a trial lawyer, Marsha has been a partner with top litigation firms in Colorado. She has represented corporate clients on a national level and served as local counsel working in conjunction with corporate legal departments. She has been a lead attorney directing trial teams in matters involving multi-million dollar claims in high-stakes litigation. For many years, Marsha protected consumer product companies in industries involving vaccines, medical devices, pharmaceuticals, insurance, and manufacturing.

As an appellate attorney, Marsha has handled cases at the state and federal levels. Her appellate work has involved insurance coverage, toxic torts, product liability, commercial litigation, trade secrets, and breach of fiduciary duty appeals. Marsha's experience and years of practice as a litigator and appellate lawyer have made her a respected and trusted resource for professionals and businesses involved in complex litigation matters.

In 2003, Marsha was the sixth woman to be appointed a Judge on the Colorado Court of Appeals. While on the bench, she authored nearly 200 appellate opinions and participated on appellate panels ruling on hundreds of other appeals. As a leader in the Colorado legal community, Marsha remains involved with the Colorado judicial system through her service as the appointed Chair of the Colorado Supreme Court's Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

Marsha's practice at RBF Law focuses on appellate law, complex commercial litigation, and products liability litigation. She regularly serves as co-counsel and local counsel assisting out-of-state legal teams with their Colorado cases. Marsha also serves as an arbitrator and mediator in commercial and business disputes. Marsha is a speaker and writer providing thought leadership to members of the bar on a range of issues involving complex commercial litigation, business litigation, product liability litigation, litigation management, and appellate law.
