

Robert James Sergesketter

Robert Sergesketter is a Distinguished Military Graduate of Texas A&M University. After college, he served on active duty as a military intelligence officer with the Fourth Infantry Division. Upon completion of his military commitment, he obtained his law degree and MBA at the University of Houston, where he served as Editor in Chief of the Houston Law Review.

Robert began his legal practice in the Trial department of Baker Botts LLP. He currently is Deputy General Counsel at Fieldwood Energy LLP, a private-equity backed Exploration & Production company based in Houston, Texas. He has practiced law for over two decades and has 15 years of dedicated time in the energy sector. He has tried over a dozen jury trials to verdict in state and federal courts throughout Texas.

Robert's practice covers a broad spectrum of complex commercial matters as well as compliance with a wide array of government regulations and agencies. He has served as lead counsel in numerous internal and government investigations, interacting directly with government agencies and the Department of Justice. While his current practice is focused exclusively in the United States, he also has extensive experience handling legal disputes outside of the U.S.