

James Stanbury

James Stanbury is a Partner in the London office of RGL Forensics and has been working as a forensic accountant for over 25 years. He regularly acts as an expert witness investigating and quantifying damages across a broad range of commercial and personal litigation: breach of contract, business interruption, eminent domain, shareholder disputes, professional indemnity, cyber and civil injury.

He has testified many times in the High Court (High Court, TCC and Lands Tribunal), international arbitrations, foreign jurisdiction (South Korea) and to the UN Compensation Commission in Geneva.