THE PRESENTATION:

How to Get the Most Out of Your Mock Trial

This Webinar features three trial lawyers and a jury consultant. The panel will describe the optimum methods of presenting a case to a mock jury panel or panels, including crafting opening presentations and presentation of evidence through multimedia. The Webinar will also focus on how defense counsel can ensure that the mock trial is beneficial to both counsel and client.

THE PRESENTERS:

Sean P. Fahey (faheys@pepperlaw.com)

Pepper Hamilton LLP, Philadelphia, PA

Sean P. Fahey is a partner in and member of the Leadership Team of the Health Sciences Department of Pepper Hamilton LLP. He focuses his practice in products liability and health care litigation, with a primary emphasis on the defense of pharmaceutical and medical device entities in multidistrict litigation. Sean is a member of the firm's Executive Committee and Diversity Committee. He also is a past chair of the Technology Committee and Hiring Committee.

Sean is a frequent lecturer and author on product liability and regulatory compliance issues, and has presented at FDA, USDA, and industry conferences. He is an executive officer and immediate past president of the Villanova University School of Law Alumni Association.

Dr. Jill Leibold (jleibold@litigationinsights.com)

Litigation Insights, Overland Park, KS

Dr. Jill Leibold is the Director of Jury Research with Litigation Insights, a jury consulting, graphics, and trial technology firm. She received her Ph.D. in social psychology, decision-making, and persuasion, with a focus on implicit bias and stereotypes, and more specifically, on correlating implicit bias to behavior toward others. Jill has applied her expertise in juror decision-making to hundreds of cases across all genres of litigation. Clients rely on her skills in preparing challenging witnesses for deposition and trial, and on her extensive experience in jury selection for both civil and criminal cases. She specializes in developing statistically-based juror risk profiles to identify jurors for cause and peremptory strikes, and also applies qualitative analyses to develop case stories and themes.

Scott J. Wilkov (scott.wilkov@tuckerellis.com)

Tucker Ellis LLP, Cleveland, OH

Scott J. Wilkov is a member of the Mass Tort and Product Liability practice at Tucker Ellis, LLP. A member of the IADC Product Liability and Toxic and Hazardous Substances Litigation Committees, Scott has appeared in state courts around the country in the defense of multiple products manufacturers. Prior to embarking on this career in civil litigation, Scott served on active duty in the United States Air Force Judge Advocate General's Corps. His penultimate assignment was as the senior prosecutor for installations in the Western United States. Through over a decade of military service, Scott tried more than 100 courts-martial as a prosecutor and defense counsel. Scott earned his J.D. from the University of Arizona College of Law where he was Managing Editor of the Arizona Law Review.

Sandra J. Wunderlich (sandra.wunderlich@tuckerellis.com)

Tucker Ellis LLP, Saint Louis, MO

Sandra J. Wunderlich is a partner at Tucker Ellis LLP where she represents clients in a broad array of commercial litigation, with an emphasis on intellectual property litigation. An experienced trial lawyer, Sandra has been lead counsel in a dozen trials. Over the past 25 years, she has represented large pharmaceutical manufacturers; agricultural and industrial manufacturers; a Fortune 50 company; and large national banks and credit arms of Fortune 100 companies in diverse areas such as mass tort and product liability, medical device and pharmaceutical liability, financial services litigation, and class actions. Sandra has handled appeals in the highest appellate courts at the state and federal level. She serves as the Chair of IADC's Intellectual Property Committee, and frequently speaks and writes for IADC, DRI, the Federal Bar Association and the Missouri Bar.
