THE PRESENTATION:

How Personal Jurisdiction is Slowly Reshaping Toxic Tort Litigation

This Webinar will examine the impact of challenges to personal jurisdiction across the spectrum of toxic tort litigation. Two attorneys who actively represent clients in toxic tort litigation will provide an overview of the Supreme Court's holding in Daimler AG v. Bauman, 134 S. Ct. 746 (2014), and its progeny, and discuss the practical effect it has had in asbestos litigation and beyond. They will also examine the specific pieces of evidence crucial to a successful challenge to personal jurisdiction, and explore the potential long term impact that challenges to personal jurisdiction have had and will continue to have on toxic tort cases around the country.
